

VENTURE KAMLOOPS SPONSORS ROUNDTABLE

Meeting to combat labour shortage

Kamloops businesses are getting some tools to help combat the increasing labour shortage.

Venture Kamloops and the B.C. Human Resources Management Association are co-organizing a roundtable discussion Feb. 12, from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the City's development services and engineering building at 105 Seymour St.

BUSINESS

The roundtable is the first in a series of four meetings based on the four employer resource tool kits created by Venture Kamloops to help businesses combat the increasing labour shortage in the Kamloops region.

This session will provide practical ways for businesses to attract employees and ways to engage them in their workplace in order to retain them.

It will be lead by HR experts Susan McIntyre and Debra Sloat.

All attendees will be provided with a copy of the toolkit booklet How to Attract, Retain & Engage Employees.

The roundtable format is designed to be informal, interactive and involve group discussion so attendees can easily share information and solutions.

Admission is $10 (free for HRMA members).
